LIFE OF FELIX DIAZ ATTEMPTED

Havana, Nov. 6.—An attempt to assassinate Gen. Felix Diaz was made by five Mexicans tonight while he was seated in Havana's fashionable Malecon listening to the band concert. He was wounded, but not seriously.

Gen. Diaz was accompanied by Cecilio Ocon, his fellow refugee, and Luis Malda, manager of the street car lines in Mexico City, when the five Mexicans appeared behind him armed with cane knives. Diaz was stabbed twice in the neck, but not deeply. He quickly arose and began beating off his companions took up park chairs in defense.

Suddenly one of the assailants drew a pistol and fired point blank at Diaz, but the weapon was knocked aside and the bullet wounded one of the assailants.

The police then rushed up and succeeded in arresting three Mexicans. All were placed in coaches and taken to the Emergency Hospital ward, where Diaz's wounds were dressed, also those of his wounded assailant.

Besides two knife wounds in the neck, Diaz received various bruises from canes, one on the arm being severe.

The attack occurred when the fashionable people of Havana were attending the band concert. Thousands of persons, panic-stricken, rushed pell mell in every direction, several being hurt by colliding with iron chairs.

ADA IS COMPLIMENTED

Medical Director of Holland's Cleanest City Contest Pleased With Ada.

Dr. M. M. Carrick of Dallas, Texas, medical director of Holland's Magazine Cleanest city contest arrived in the city yesterday afternoon for the purpose of making a sanitary and health survey of Ada. He did not spend the first day around the hotel for making friends with the neighbors; he started out to learn just what kind of a town Ada was, for it was his first visit.

He rode over its principal streets and many of its by-ways; he looked its alleys and encooped around back yards; he sized up the vacant lot and home plots, both front and back; followed our street cleaning force around last night, and then he announced with all the emphasis of a 200-pound frame, that the metropolis of south

CONFERENCE DISAPPROVES OF CARNEGIE OFFER

Norman, Ok., Nov. 6.—At the regular business session of the West Oklahoma Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, this morning the ministers made verbal reports and all were passed. Quite a large number were added to those in attendance, numerous ministers and lay delegates arriving last night. Among the visitors of note today were Senator and Mrs. T. P. Gore, Dr. J. J. Morgan of Dallas, agent of the American Bible Society and H. T. Laughbaum secretary of the State Anti-Saloon League.

The conference went on record as in favor of the attitude of the bishops in the Vanderbilt University suit in declining the $1,000,000 Carnegie donation. The trustees of the university had accepted the donation, but the bishops declined to ratify the acceptance, there being certain provisions in the offer which they thought were not in accordance with the church's policy.

O. W. Stewart, superintendent of the State Blind Asylum at Muskogee, made a short address, outlining the work of the institution and requesting co-operation of the conference. Delegates to the general conference will be elected at 11 o'clock Friday. The general conference meets in Oklahoma City in May next.

Bishop Embury Hess, one of the veterans of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, now in session at Muskogee, preached an inspiring sermon to a large congregation this afternoon, taking as his text John III, 16. Bishop Mouzon, in his morning remarks, expressed appreciation of the entertainment given by the citizens of Norman and impressed upon the ministers and laymen the necessity of giving as little trouble as possible, to do good to the households at which they were assigned and to refrain from the use of tobacco.

Dr. G. S. Chadwick of Nashville, Tenn., preached to a large congregation tonight. Among members of the conference are Kicking Bird, Horse and Clyde Coon, three stalwart full-blood specimens of the Comanche tribe of Indians, who are doing excellent work in the Lawton District.

ADA HIGH SCHOOL PLAYS

WETUMKA TODAY

This morning the football team of the Ada High school left for Wetumka where they will play a game this afternoon. It will be remembered that when Wetumka played here the game was broken up by a rain. However, the Ada boys were in the lead, and the hope to make the victory so decisive today that there will be no room to doubt which has the better team. The Ada team is made up of good material and when they enter the normal these boys will already have had sufficient training to make them valuable men on teams that will continue to win honors for Ada.

DEMOCRATS DIFFER ON CURRENCY BILL

Washington, Nov. 6.—Amendments, characterized by Chairman Owen as "altering the entire theory of the bill," were written into the Administration currency measure today by a coalition of Republican and Democratic members of the Senate Banking Committee. The Administration supporters in the committee were decisively outvoted on all but one of the points settled today.

Democratic leaders in the Senate decided late today that unless the senate banking and currency committee promptly voted back into the administration currency bill some of the fundamentals that it had eliminated, a party conference or caucus would be called for the beginning of next week to consider the subject.

Tonight it became known that four staunch Administration supporters of the committee—Senators Owen, Hollis, Pomerene and Shafroth—had been working quietly on a report which they probably will submit to their Democratic colleagues, Senators Reed, O'Gorman and Hitchcock. Should they decline to sign it, it is believed that the plan will be to submit the report to the Democratic caucus or conference.

Senators who insist upon some kind of party action take the position that the Democratic party will be required to stand sponsor for whatever legislation is enacted, that efforts to get a nonpartisan report means interminable discussion and wrangling on compromise that would seriously delay the passage of the bill and embarrass consideration of the remainder of the party program in the regular session of congress.

central Oklahoma was one of the cleanest he had seen, and this after having made an investigation of sanitary and health conditions in 175 cities and towns of the country, small and large.

Dr. Carrick has been state quarantine officer in Texas, assistant superintendent of the State Epileptic Colony at Abilene, superintendent of the state hospital for lepers in that state and was in charge of the campaign against meningitis that brought Texas in national spotlight some time ago. He is one of the best known public health men in the south, and is at present a member of the National legislative committee of the American Medical Association.

During Dr. Carrick's visit he is inspecting the water works, all streets and alleys, sewer system, two public school buildings, the state normal school, the slaughter houses, two dairies, two bakeries, the county court house and jail, three markets, two restaurants, moving picture shows, two railway stations, hotels, three places where "soft" drinks are sold five grocery stores and two boarding houses. He interviewed several city officials and made a study of the administration of the health department.

This is the first Oklahoma city to be inspected personally by Dr. Carrick here earlier in the year and he has a complete report on conditions during the months of August, September and October.

"I am delighted with Ada," said Dr. Carrick. "It surpasses all that I have heard tell of it, and Texans always praise your city after once visiting it. I had known of the movement here the past several weeks to clean and beautify your progressive little city and it certainly has brought results."

Dr. Carrick leaves this afternoon for Oklahoma City where he goes to confer with the State Health authorities.

In discussing the work Dr. Carrick said: the importance of preventive medicine is being recognized and the medical man has placed upon his own shoulders the burden of being a pioneer in this field. With foresight and courage he has borne the responsibility, made the sacrifices, and led the van. He has raised his own standards and fitted himself for more exacting service without hope of reward except in the consciousness of duty well done.

"We shall not get any farther tomorrow than we have today unless we prevent preventable diseases today; unless we prevent unclean marriages; unless we prevent feeble-minded and degenerates from producing their kind; unless we make it possible for better children through eugenics and surround them with better environments. This we must do for the sake of a better community, a better State and a better Nation."

The school boy who in his composition said nobody ever saw a dead editor must have lived in Oklahoma. According to the report of Dr. Mahr, state health officer, only three of the craft died during the past year, this number being the smallest of any class of professional men. Teachers headed the list with 34, and doctors came next with 23. Dentists and druggists seem to be a tough lot, only seven deaths being reported among the first and nine among the second named.

OUR CONTENTION SUSTAINED.

Sometime ago an inspection of Ada was made by Dr. Bennfield and in his report to Dr. Carrick, who is at the head of the inspection work in Holland's clean town contest, stated that if the contest was decided on the basis of the most beautiful women Ada would certainly win first honors. The News has always contended that Ada was far in the lead in this respect and this testimony by a disinterested outsider goes far to establish our claim.

The Nat C. Goodwin "Oliver Twist" Pictures Coming Here.

Manager Chauncey will offer to the patrons of the De Sota theatre on next Monday the remarkable motion picture of the famous comedian Nat C. Goodwin in his equally famous portrayal of the wily "Fagin" in Charles Dickens' masterpiece, "Oliver Twist." In this picture, which embraces five reels and requires two hours to display, will be seen the complete all-star cast which supported Mr. Goodwin during the memorable year's run at the New Amsterdam and Empire theatres in New York. Although the prices of admission in the metropolis were $2.00 per seat the pictures as shown here will cost but fifteen and twenty-five cents or ten and 20 cents at the matinee. Local theatregoers will probably not be slow to take advantage of seeing so great an artist as Mr. Goodwin at such trifling expense.

STIRRING THINGS UP

By C. HAMBURG.

"By the way," said Harstetter, in the middle of a peaceful dinner at his country cottage, "I asked the Powells to come across the lake with me next Saturday. I thought we ought to have them."

Presently the dead silence caused him to look up from his salad. "What's the matter?" he inquired in astonishment.

Mrs. Harstetter was gazing at him with a tragedy face. "James Harstetter," she got out at last, "I should think you would have known better! Why, this week I'm getting ready to close the cottage for the winter—and we're all going back with you next Monday—and the cretonnes will all be down and the house looks like fury without them—and the curtains—and Mrs. Powell has never been here, and what on earth will she think of the place? With the geranium boxes all emptied and everything! And eating the scraps and canned stuff that's left—oh, I could shake you!"

"I didn't think," said Harstetter. His appetite, however, seemed quite unimpaired by the turn affairs had taken.

"They'll want to go walking and see things and go fishing and goodness knows what else—and there's all that canned fruit for you to crate. How are you going to crate fruit when you've got to sit on the front porch being a pleasant little host to a great big fat man like Mr. Powell, who wants to smoke cigars and have refreshing drinks served to him all the time and have the women sitting around languidly ready to talk and keep him amused. If it had to be some one why couldn't you have picked out any one else on earth but the Powells? I do believe there is something left out of a man's brain that women have, some sixth sense that should keep them from doing foolish things! You are just like a little boy—the present moment is all you can manage!"

"I Just Hate You!"

"I am sorry," said Harstetter, "to have stirred up such a commotion." Mrs. Harstetter sighed in an outraged manner. "What good does that do?" she exploded. "How easy life would be if all of us went ahead and did just as we chose with no consideration for any one else's comfort or wishes or convenience, just because we could say afterward that we were sorry and that would make it all right! I believe I'll try it, and see how you like it, James Harstetter. You'll come home some night and find there isn't any dinner and I'll say: 'Dear me! I didn't have time to order it because I wanted to go to a bridge party—I'm so-o-o sorry!'"

"That would be no excuse for not providing a hungry man with his dinner," said Harstetter.

His wife made inarticulate sounds in her throat. "You are perfectly madening!" she said. "There is no reason why the same allowances shouldn't be made for me that you expect me to make for you. All the good sheets are in the wash this coming week and Mary'll be good and angry when I tell her she has to wash out some ahead of time so I can fix up the guestroom bed! And it's so hard to keep servants contented here in the country. I should think you would have thought of that! I just know Mrs. Powell will snuff at the simplicity of the place—though when the cretonnes are up and the flower boxes are filled it isn't so bad. I hate to have people see the place when it isn't at its best. Honestly, I could cry!"

"Don't cry," said Harstetter. "What's the use?"

"How are we going to get them here now that the ferry's stopped? Could you expect Mrs. Powell, in something perfectly lovely from Paris, to walk a quarter of a mile through the sand and come across the lake in a row-boat as you do, James Harstetter? She'll hate us!"

"Well," said Harstetter, cheerfully, "now that you've got your blood circulating—you said you were chilly when we sat down to dinner—I'll mention that that's precisely what Mrs. Powell did do! She very sweetly declined the invitation, because she said she knew you'd be so busy packing up!"

"Jimmy Harstetter, I just hate you," exclaimed his wife.—Chicago Daily News.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed With Sulphur It Brings Back Its Lustre and Abundance.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

BOGUS HUNTING LICENSES

BEING SOLD HUNTERS

Oklahoma City, Nov. 7.—An attempt to defraud the state in the sale of resident and non-resident hunting licenses has been discovered by a deputy in the state examiner and inspector's office according to announcement made by the state game warden's department Wednesday afternoon.

License blanks printed by a concern in McClain county have been furnished county clerks in several counties of the state and these licenses have been sold and no return from them paid to the county treasurers or to the credit of the state game protection fund, according to information in possession of the game warden's department. The fraud, it is stated, was discovered through a bill presented by the publishing concern for work done in printing the spurious licenses.

TO IMPROVE PRETTY HAIR

AND BEAUTIFY UGLY HAIR

Harmony Hair Beautifier, a delightful liquid hair dressing, is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. No matter how pretty your hair now is, it can be made to look even better by using Harmony Hair Beautifier. To those who mourn because the hair is stringy, dull, lustreless and homely, Harmony Hair Beautifier will prove a real blessing and pleasure. It seems to polish and burnish the hair, making it glossy, silky-soft and more easy to put up in graceful, wavy folds that "stay put." It overcomes the oily smell of the hair with a dainty, true-rose fragrance, very pleasing to the user and those around.

Very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. It contains no oil, and will not change the color of the hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made.—Gwin & Mays Drug Co., Main Street, Ada, Okla.

BAILEY WILL NOT MAKE RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Washington, Nov. 7.—The Washington Post carried the following Texas dispatch on its front page this morning:

"Austin, Tex., Nov. 5.—Former United States Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Standard Oil fame is to be a candidate for governor of Texas at the election next year. His formal announcement is expected the first of the year."

When Senator Bailey's attention was called to it, he emphatically denied the report, saying: "The creature who wrote the story would not be very apt to know anything about my intentions. I have said over my signature positively and distinctly that I will not be a candidate for governor, and it ought not to be necessary for me to repeat that statement. I very cheerfully say to you, however, that there is absolutely no foundation for that Austin report. I am as firm in my determination now as I have ever been, not to permit the use of my name as a candidate for governor of Texas."

Former Senator Bailey has retired from politics and is busily engaged in the practice of law in this city with his son, Weldon, as his partner. While he is now engaged in business affairs, it is well known by his friends that he did not propose to be harassed by old enemies nor to permit his friends to be pursued merely because they are his friends.

"A Texan, in close touch with the senator, said today: 'If it is the desire of certain men to force Senator Bailey back into Texas politics, I don't know how they can more speedily accomplish that purpose than to begin to malign, persecute and misrepresent him. If it is a fight they are seeking they can easily get into a full sized war if they start out on the lines evidenced by the Austin dispatch.'"

GERMANY DOES NOT FAVOR PRICE CUTTING

While Uncle Sam is prosecuting people for maintaining retail prices, Germany is making things warm for the price-cutting fraternity. A retailer has been brought into court for having obliterated a certain identification mark on the goods he sold—by which mark the manufacturer expected to trace price-cutters—and was found guilty and liable to heavy damages.

Applying to the case section 1 of the law of unfair competition, which makes liable anyone whose business acts are such as to offend good morals, the court found the defendant guilty, first, in injuring the trade of his competitors by selling below the contract price, by which they were likewise bound, and by causing damage to the complainant's business; by giving rise to the belief that its goods could be bought at different prices at retail instead of only at the uniform price.

Miss Buckley in Ada.

The second number of the Lyceum Course now being put on by the Epworth League was given at the First Methodist church last evening. Miss Beryl Buckley, of the Redpath Bureau presenting "In the Palace of the King." Miss Buckley is great. Her impersonation could not be excelled. She is intensely dramatic. The ease and art with which she changes from one character to another are marvelous. For two hours she held the audience in her hand. She easily sustained the pace set by the Cathedral Choir. All were delighted. Ada will be glad to hear Miss Buckley again.

Empress Eugenie's Tomb.

London, Nov. 7.—In view of the disquieting reports concerning the condition of Empress Eugenie, the widow of Napoleon III., who is said to be failing rapidly, public attention is attracted to the fact that the former empress has prepared for herself one of the most remarkable and magnificent tombs in England if not in the world, where, in the fullness of time, she will rest by the side of her distinguished husband and her only son, the Prince Imperial, whose death in the wilds of Africa has so greatly saddened her life. The mausoleum is connected with the Benedictine Abbey Church at Farnborough, where the ex-Empress has her magnificent estate. On either side of the high altar of the mausoleum are granite sarcophagi containing the remains of Napoleon III. and the Prince Imperial. Behind the altar is a small door leading into the monastery and over this the Empress had an arcosolium constructed in the crypt of which the sarcophagus containing the remains of the empress will rest.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from back-tick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges; when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four pounces of Jad Salts; take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. (Adv.)

REFRESHMENT FOR ONE

By CLARA POEHLMAN.

"Mother wants to know if she can have—" began small Clara, trotting into Mrs. Brown's back hall. Then she smiled.

"Um—I guess I smell fudge!" she exclaimed, stepping slowly but surely toward the kitchen door. "I haven't had any fudge for the longest time."

"It isn't fudge? Well, I'm sure it smells like fudge. What is it? Chocolate. Well, I like that, too."

"Oh, no, I'm not hungry. That is, I am hungry, but I don't think I'd better take any chocolate. Well, I would like a cup, maybe. It smells like fudge and chocolate soda. I had a chocolate soda last night."

"What's that in the little pan? It's such a cunning little pan. Eggs? Why don't you just boil them in the teakettle? I don't see why it wouldn't be clean. I'm sure my mother does. Anyway, she would if she thought of it."

"Oh, what's that cunning little brush? Why, it's a toothbrush, isn't it? Do you brush your teeth out here? Oh, you use it for vegetables! Do some of them have teeth the same as potatoes have eyes? I'm sure my mother doesn't brush our vegetables' teeth."

"Oh, yes, I see. You scrub the dirt off them. That's nice. I just hate to find sand on my baked potatoes."

"But I think the toothbrush for the vegetables is fine. Is it yours or Mr. Brown's?"

"Oh, I thought it was just a worn out one you were using up out here. You know, sometimes the bristles get old and fall out—and stick into you—but they wouldn't hurt the vegetables, would they? I think it is a very good way to use up your old brushes—and Mr. Brown has such big teeth that he must use up lots of them. Oh, yes, I forgot; you did say this was a new one. But I think when I tell mother she'll use old ones, for we've got so many around."

"Once I brushed my teeth—that's how I know about the loose bristles. I don't know whose brush it was, but it was the nicest looking one in the bathroom, so I took some of mother's new face cream and put on it and then brushed the baby's teeth. He made such a fuss that I just brushed my own to show him it was all right—only, of course, I didn't use face cream on my teeth. I could tell from the way the baby acted that it didn't taste as good as it smelled. But the bristles came out all over my mouth—" and I was sorry I'd brushed my teeth. That chocolate was awfully good. Were you making it for lunch or just for us for a between meals lunch? If it was just made for us, I'll drink another cup with you."

"He Made Such a Fuss."

"Why don't you drink any? You want to save some for Mr. Brown? Sometimes my mother does just like that. She says she gauges things wrong. That's what you did, isn't it? I should think you'd make a big fuss for any one as big as Mr. Brown."

"My mother puts more cream in chocolate than you do, but I like this just as well."

"Don't you make any dessert for lunch? I don't like to eat very well without dessert. I like pie with ice cream on it, but I guess it costs a good deal."

"Mr. Brown doesn't like dessert? Oh, he's feeling you. Don't you believe him."

"I thought I saw some cake over there. Oh, that's for company tonight, I see. Would you call me company when I just came in in the morning? Would you like me to show you my doll tonight?"

"Oh, there's my mother calling. She asked me to come here and get some—I forgot what I'll be going down and ask and then I'll come back."

"Shall I bring my doll to show your company tonight?"—Chicago Daily News.

Columbia, Mo., "for I believe I would have consumption to-day, if I had not used this great remedy."

"I take great pleasure in recommending your Dr. King's New Discovery for the benefit of suffering humanity. It's a thoroughly reliable remedy for all coughs, croup and lung troubles. We have used it in our family for fourteen years with the best results. It saved my mother when two doctors gave her up. She had a very severe case of pneumonia and was in bed seven weeks and part of the time 'out of her mind' so that she did not know me. I told father to get me two 50c bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery, which he did, and on taking it she soon began to improve, and four bottles cured her entirely. You may publish this if you wish and I will answer all inquiries, with postage enclosed for reply."

"Yours respectfully,
"Wm. Cogger."

TROOPS IN CHARGE AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Indiana's entire National Guard, consisting of more than 2,000 soldiers, encamped in different parts of Indianapolis tonight ready for duty in connection with the strike of employees of the Indianapolis Traction and Terminal Company.

Special trains brought the troops under hurried orders and they were detained in the suburbs virtually surrounding the town. Great secrecy was maintained as to the movement and arrival of the militia and few citizens knew that the troops had been called out until late today.

All companies were held when they arrived until they were of such number that it was deemed safe to bring them into the city. This was done to prevent any clash with the strikers, who after learning the troops had been called out, were on the downtown streets in large numbers. The troops will not begin duty until early tomorrow morning.

Whether the street cars are to be manned by soldiers, officers in charge would not say tonight. Martial law had not been declared early tonight, but such a proclamation is expected to be issued from the governor's office before morning.

You can find any thing to eat from a hot cake and maple syrup to a tender loin steak at the Palace Cafe. 181-6t

Collecting a Crowd

"I don't know what to do to collect a crowd," said the street salesman. "My old methods are all getting too familiar." "Nothing is easier," replied Mr. Chuggins. "If you want to collect a crowd simply pretend that your automobile is broken and that you are going to try to fix it."
